

Renz and Plant Shatter 36-Year-Old Walk Record

Time for Fifteen-Mile Hike Is Bettered by Over Eight Minutes.

FOUR OTHER MARKS GO BY THE BOARD

Old Dick Remer Sets Pace Which Aids Renz to Hang Up New Figures.

By CAVIE.

American walking records at five distances were broken by large margins in the fifteen-mile New York and New Jersey state championship, held under the direction of the Thomas Lynch Association at Celtic Park, Long Island City, yesterday afternoon. From the seventh mile to the end the old marks were shattered, the fifteen-mile record, which has stood for thirty-six years, being the last to succumb.

Four of the marks went to the credit of Eddie Renz, of the Mohawk Athletic Club, recognized American champion. Renz's record-breaking win was due considerably to the determined fighting of James W. Plant, of the Long Island Athletic Club, who finished second. Plant gave Renz as warm a tussle as has featured their many hard meetings on the indoor tracks during the past winter.

It was practically stride for stride during the last few miles, with Renz making a switch in the racing position. Plant was so "burned up" at the finish by his hard efforts, that he was barely able to cross the tape.

The new performance recorded by Renz was 2:06:05 3-5 and greatly reduced the former best figures of 2:14:44, made by Willie O'Keefe on the old Williamsburg track in the halcyon days of thirty years ago. Renz's new record was a four-fifths second faster than the old performance.

Renz's other record was at the eleventh mile, which he turned in 1:28:51, displacing the previous best time of 1:28:06, held by Willie F. Hart since May 27, 1914.

He also got into the record-breaking column when he led Renz by two yards at the twelfth mile in 1:37:40, smashing the former time of 1:45:55, hung up by Eddie D. Lane in 1914.

Remer Responsible.

The wholesale wreckage of records was primarily due to the killing pace of the gray-haired Dick Remer, now of the City Hall-Coney Island Athletic Club, who exhausted himself so that he had to retire at the end of the tenth mile. The oldest athlete in active competition took the heart out of many of the other thirty-seven contestants as he fairly burned up the clippers, heading the field around the track from the start until he wilted. He soon forced many of the unhurried pedestrians to retire to the inside of the track, panting heavily.

Renz and Plant both succeeded in passing Remer at the end of the ninth mile, and the fight for the premier honors was on. It was not until the fourteenth mile, when Renz increased his speed and shot into a five-yard lead.

He increased this to some fifteen yards on the beginning of the last lap, when Plant called into play his reserve strength. He made unexpectedly good progress on the swiftly moving Renz and was able to cut down to the lead to seven yards. Both reached the finish badly burned up by their hard race.

Following far behind, for third honors, came William H. Padden, representing the New York Athletic Club. He covered the distance in 2:14:47 3-5. George Ullrich, of the American Walkers' Association, and Frank Kieffer, of the City Hall-Coney Island Athletic Club, were third and fourth, in the respective times of 2:14:50 1-5 and 2:16:20 3-5. They were the only others to finish.

Bike Riders Collide.

A collision of three bicyclists in the twenty-five-mile two-man team race, added to the many thrills of the afternoon. Eddie Shellington, of the Glenoe Athletic Club, who swerved on the new turn at the far end and caused the upset, had to be taken to the hospital, suffering from a cut down to the shoulder and a bad laceration of the hand. That he did not suffer more serious injuries was due to his presence of mind in throwing his hands out as he crashed into the fence.

Antony Attardi, who was teamed with Nat Gutoff, carrying the colors of the Empire City Wheelmen, and George Bowker, of the Glenoe Athletic Club, were the other two riders in the smash, but escaped injury. However, they were so badly shaken up that they had to retire and permit their mates to complete the remaining two miles.

First honors went to Lawrence Gaffney and George Laux, of the Empire City Wheelmen, who were so consistently in the leading group that they Shellington and his partner, George Kaufman, took down fourth place with 28 points, with Gutoff and Attardi taking the fifth and last prize with 20 points. Eleven teams were in the chase for the prizes, but the pace was so hot that six fell by the wayside.

HORSEMEN FAVOR PIMLICO COURSE

Average of $230,000 Is Wagered Daily at the Hilltop Track.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.)

Baltimore, May 14.—The present meeting at Pimlico has demonstrated beyond a doubt that the old Hilltop course is the most popular of any of the tracks about the city. Even though it is generally conceded that the spring meetings at Pimlico are nothing in comparison to the fall season, the day in the mutuels has been larger at Pimlico than at any of the other tracks here.

Three times this week more than $200,000 has passed through the machines, while on Saturday it was more than $260,000. This is said to exceed the amount of business on the opening day, which had been the high water mark.

The racing during the meeting has been of the highest class and there have been some promising youngsters developed. Samuel Ross appears to have a shifty pair of juveniles in Cran and Ultimatum, which are probably the best pair of juveniles saved.

The selling races continue to give dissatisfaction. In former times it has been the custom for only the owner of the second horse to take any bidding, but now it is every owner in the race takes a whack at the winner, and the claims have been more numerous than warranted.

LOTS OF TENNIS IN WEST SIDE MATCHES

Close Play in Three Classes in Club Championships.

Albion H. Man, Louis Graves and Ralph L. Bagns won their matches in the first round of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills yesterday. Graves caught a Tartar in Dr. R. C. Thomas, dropping the first set and then twice to deuce, and having a hard fight in the next two sets. Class C matches also were staged.

Seven matches were played in the first round of the Class A singles, a remarkable feature being that each of the contests went the full three sets. Julian S. Myrick, president of the club, defeated N. G. Johnson in one set. These Class C matches also were staged.

The summaries follow:
Class A singles (first round)—L. Bagns, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; N. G. Johnson, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; J. S. Myrick, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; R. C. Thomas, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; A. H. Man, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; L. Graves, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3; R. L. Bagns, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3.

METRO. TENNIS FOR FAIR STARS TO-DAY

Determined Assault on Title Held by Miss Bjurstedt.

With considerably more entrants than ever before, the metropolitan women's tennis championship will begin at 10:30 o'clock this morning on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills. Sixty-six women are out to gain the title now held by Miss Mollie Bjurstedt, the great Norse racket wielder.

The entry is more representative than in past years, for in addition to all the prominent women players of this vicinity, Miss Helen Alexander, of Philadelphia, and the Pittsburghers, Misses Martha Guthrie and Frances Brainerd, will compete.

Miss Bjurstedt is in the lower half of the draw, where she will have as strong rivals Miss Marie Wagner, Miss Brainerd, Mrs. David C. Miller, Miss Corinna Wier and Miss Alexander. In the upper half prominent performers are Miss Jane Rowson, Miss Guthrie, Miss Ina A. Kissel, Mrs. Robert LeRoy, Miss Florence Hallin, Mrs. Ingo Hartmann and Miss Margaret Taylor.

At last the real reason why Chicago is called the Windy City has been discovered. They are talking out there of matching Jess Willard with Fred Fulton, the peculiarly precocious plasterer, who recently flattened the always atrocious Al Reich at the Stadium A. C. Of course, the match is only in the conversational stage, and it is likely to remain in that stage. Shrewd guessers declare that it is only some manipulation on the part of J. Wallingford Curley to induce Frank Moran to fight Jack Dillon at Washington Park, which is under the control of the enterprising firm of Curley, McKetrick & Pollok. The threatened Willard-Fulton match is meant to indicate to Frank Moran that if he does not fight Dillon at Washington Park he will not get a return match with Willard.

The promoters of Washington Park announce that the winner of the fight with Dillon will get a match with Willard. Just why this is expected to be considered in the light of a boon or favor is not apparent. There are lots of people who would take the next boat to Europe if they were offered a bout with Willard.

There is no clamor for a Willard-Fulton match. Since the bout with Moran Willard has been recognized as a real champion. At any rate, it is conceded that nothing human can beat him for a year or two. Certainly Fulton has less chance with him than Frank Moran had. The ponderous plasterer has only one hand in action, a left. It's a busy left, but it has not the steam of Willard's portside hammer.

The chances of Willard and Fulton drawing anything like the house that was attracted by the Willard-Moran bout are as slim as Bryan's. There was some curiosity and a great deal of skepticism concerning Willard at that time. The curiosity has been satisfied and the skepticism has been dispelled.

Ted (Kid) Lewis is putting the finishing touches on his work for the bout with Mike Gibbons Thursday night, over at New Dorp, Staten Island. We were about to say that he was putting the finishing touches on the work for his finish, but refrained in order to spare the feelings and still the conversation of Jimmie Johnston, the boy bandit of Madison Square.

Lewis boxed four rounds with Joe Wellington, the husky lightweight, who was his opponent in the first round of the New York State League.

THIS WALTER JOHNSON ALSO A SPEED BURNER

The season's record pack of forty-three runners competed in the weekly run of the Long Island Athletic Club over the four-and-one-half-mile course of the K. O. St. Anthony, in Greenpoint, Brooklyn, yesterday. Walter Johnson, of the Swedish-American Athletic Club, made good use of his handicap of 2:15 in leading the harems.

Sam Hedberg, of the home club, was second. Competing from scratch, Arthur Crow, of the Presentation Club, who finished ninth, in 2:12, made the best time.

The Knights had little trouble in leading the elements in the team score, with the low tally of 30 points. Three other organizations also finished full teams of five runners.

The summaries follow:

Dead Heat Enlivens St. Anselm's Run

A dead heat between Hugh Honohan, of the New York Athletic Club, and Harry McGinn, a Paulist Athletic Club entry, enlivened the nine and a half mile run of the St. Anselm's Athletic Club yesterday. One of the features of the New York University spring carnival which is to be held on Memorial Day at University Heights will be a baseball game between the Columbia and Violet nines.

Manager Johnson, of the School of Commerce, who is in charge of the carnival, has completed the necessary arrangements.

Greenpoint's soccer team was successful in maintaining a commanding position in the second section of the New York State League, defeating the St. George's eleven by a score of 2 goals to 1 after a hard fought game at Harlem Field.

The winners established their advantage in the first half, which ended with the score of 1-0 in their favor, but in

JACKIE CLARK WINS FEATURE BICYCLE RACE

Outlaws and Regulars in Fast Races Together at Velodrome.

Former outlaw racing cyclist, docile and penitent, returned to the organization fold at the Newark Velodrome yesterday afternoon and kicked pedals alongside the men who remained loyal.

It was all part of the peace pact in the sport, and the two factions were as friendly as if there had been no friction.

The prize money was almost evenly distributed, but the outlaws scored first blood when Jake Magin, one of their number, won the mile professional handicap. He had an allowance of 70 yards, and beat out Redell and Eddie Root, regulars, who were grouped with him in the final sprint. Magin's victory brought him $100.

Frank Kramer, the national champion and a regular, riding from scratch, was unplaced; but Alfred Grenda, an outlaw and also a scratch man, got fourth place.

Alfred Goulet, the outlaws' leader, rode unplaced in the handicap. He got a round of applause on his appearance, the stand containing many of his admirers.

The attendance at the meet, though good, was less than it was wont to be when the strike was on. The chilly weather probably had a deterrent effect on the bike race enthusiasts, only about 1,000 of whom were on hand.

Jackie Clark, showing increasing speed with lessening avoirdupois, easily defeated Eddie Root in the one-mile brassard. The applause which greeted his victory showed Clark to be a real star. He sprinted around Root in the last lap and hit the tape twenty-five yards to the good.

Two former amateur stars made their debuts in the professional ranks. They were Hans Oth and the Frisco lad who won the national and world's championships last year, and Albert Spencer, the Canadian, his nearest rival on that occasion. Oth only arrived from San Francisco on Saturday.

Spencer has been racing since the season started, and showed his class by defeating Joe Fogler, the veteran, in a match at one mile. Fogler captured the first prize, but Spencer took the next two sprinting around Fogler in the home stretch of each lap.

Frank Kramer demonstrated his class by capturing the three-mile professional sprint, the last race on the card, shaking off the big field in the dash to the tape. Following McNamara, he came from the center of the field two laps from home, and in the last lap rode around Magin and Grenda, as if he was setting the pace. He had five yards margin at the finish.

Grenda got second, McNamara third and Magin fourth in a blanket finish.
